Dear Ed Markey, U.S. Senator, Massachusetts,

In May 2016, you read a Los Angeles Times investigative story about the OxyContin fraud and you called for federal investigations. <https://www.latimes.com/projects/la-me-oxycontin-full-coverage/> We also note that you have personally written to Elon Musk of Tesla regarding safety issues: <https://www.markey.senate.gov/imo/media/doc/Letter%20--%20Tesla%20Autopilot%20Safety%20System%2011-19-19.pdf> Tesla uses LED headlights which have never been approved by NHTSA and are not only exceedingly dangerous, but illegal. <https://www.thedrive.com/tech/43779/this-tesla-model-y-dummy-crash-shows-exactly-why-lidar-matters>

The Soft Lights Foundation now calls on you to make a request that federal agencies investigate The LED Fraud.

The LED cartel has spread the fraudulent myth that LED light beams save energy and that they emit the same safe type of light as previous technologies. Because of this fraud, we now have a situation where vehicle headlights, streetlights and flashing lights are all using LED light beams, and LEDs have now spread like a virus around the country.

We have alerted all of the Executive branch agencies such as NHTSA, NTSB, EPA, DOE, DOL, DOT and on and on, and nobody on that side of the government cares. Therefore, the DOJ or Senate must launch a full scale investigation, just as Purdue Pharma was investigated.

The Soft Lights Foundation has the evidence that the investigators need to expose the fraud, direct the Executive branch agencies to act, and hold the LED cartel members accountable. www.softlights.org/led-fraud
