You were mentioned in an article about the autonomy features of a Tesla that crashed. The Soft Lights Foundation has discovered that NHTSA has never approved LED headlights, that the automakers have fraudulently self-certified LED headlights as FMVSS-108 compliant, when they are not, and that LED headlights have already caused eye damage, neurological trauma, and vehicle accidents. Our petition to ban these headlights has tens of thousands of signatures.

Your profile indicates an excellent fit for this situation. These LED headlights cases will probably be in the billions of dollars in damages. We have excellent documentation to provide you. Please let me know if I can email them to you.

Sincerely,
Mark Baker
