Dear Mr. Baker:

This is in reply to your most recent e-mail to the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) regarding your concern about LED lights on vehicles and your dissatisfaction with the NTSB's responses to your earlier e-mails.

We encourage you to pursue your concerns with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration or with one of the non-government safety organizations, such as the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, which may be able to conduct the study you desire.

This will be our final reply to you on this issue.

Sincerely,

Shavonne Austin
